CONCERNING “MONEYWISE” GAME

The most effective learning is playing! Imagine a money game that in 4-6 hours allows you to play life, a game that clearly shows you where your current knowledge of finances will succeed or fail you. Imagine a game that accurately reflects life and how you win or loose by the way you choose! Moneywise makes the unthinkable real! It is one of a kind, in a class entirely of its own! It is an opportunity of a lifetime!

In December 2009 the most wanted Christmas present in America was a game and especially a decent money game. All money games on the market are played with a dice and basically built on luck. Moneywise accurately resembles real life and is played with skill and creativity. In fact, it does not even make use of a dice! As in real life, all opportunities are available for every player! We wrote the game five years ago and tested it with the poor, the middle class, the rich and especially with children and young people, because the game was partially written by young adults.

Moneywise is a fun game that teaches the principles of wealth creation! In a simulated live economy, the players learn the skill of handling money in such a way that they can create riches. Although it is a game, it shows people how to become millionaires! It is a game that has been created from real life experience.

The objectives in writing the game are:

- To let people experience that life and finances are fun! People experience enormous fun when they play the game.
- To write a live economy game with no dice! You can only progress by aggressive participation in the economy on the table. Each player has an equal chance to make use of every opportunity that presents itself, and is in no way hampered by turns or a dice.
- To write a game that represents a real life economy as closely as possible. When playing the game, people merely mirror the way they handle their finances in real life. When they see their mistakes in the game, they quickly realize why they make no progress in real life.

- To learn to create financial momentum and wealth. The motto of the game is, "You win or you loose by the way you choose!"
- To help people exercise their money making skills! You can only break out in the game by real skill.
- To teach people about the real economy! Everything of the real economy is included: salaries, taxes, cars, houses, bonds, trusts, sowing, shares, businesses, insurance, marriages, children, etc. The players are forced to rethink everything they believe concerning how they think economy works. They also have to make their own choices as to which values they want to include in their game, as well as which opportunities they want to make use of.
- To teach people that financial success is not only in the amount of money you have, but also in the relationships that you have with people around you!
- To experience the true nature of money and wealth and to exercise how to achieve it!
- It is not a competitive game, although at the end of the game all wealth is calculated in terms of money! Twelve people or six teams can play at once, but every team competes entirely against himself.
- The game is very intensive and during the 4-6 hours of playing, the players are constantly busy making plans, learning, calculating, fixing problems and making decisions.

The Moneywise game is an extremely good educational tool for every person 13 years and older. Our motivation for writing the game is to train young people the reality of financial freedom. Players can sell financial information during the game, and are compensated for supplying the answers to other players' questions. We have played the game with young, aged and rich people. All of them could testify how much they have learnt while playing the game. The game also has a very good possibility of changing it into an electronic computer game. This game is really one of its kind in the world and extremely realistic to the real world.

We are also involved in a project called Gateway Youth Foundation where we do youth work in schools. We have a network nationwide where we can take the game into schools to educate the young people in financial skills. There is also a 12 week workshop course that we have developed for working people and businessmen to train them the practical skills in financial planning, budgeting, how to become debt free, buying property, bonds, insurance, testaments, investing, tax, financial freedom and many other things!

We are looking for a partners to print the game and to take it to the youth in the schools especially. If you are interested, you can contact me and I can supply you with a detailed business plan how we are going to market Moneywise to bring it to the people that need it the most. Please let us know if you would by any chance be interested in Moneywise and if so, where we could perhaps meet to show it to you. I can assure you, this game is truly unique and are going to make a huge difference in educating people financially. I include some photos to give you a better idea of the game.

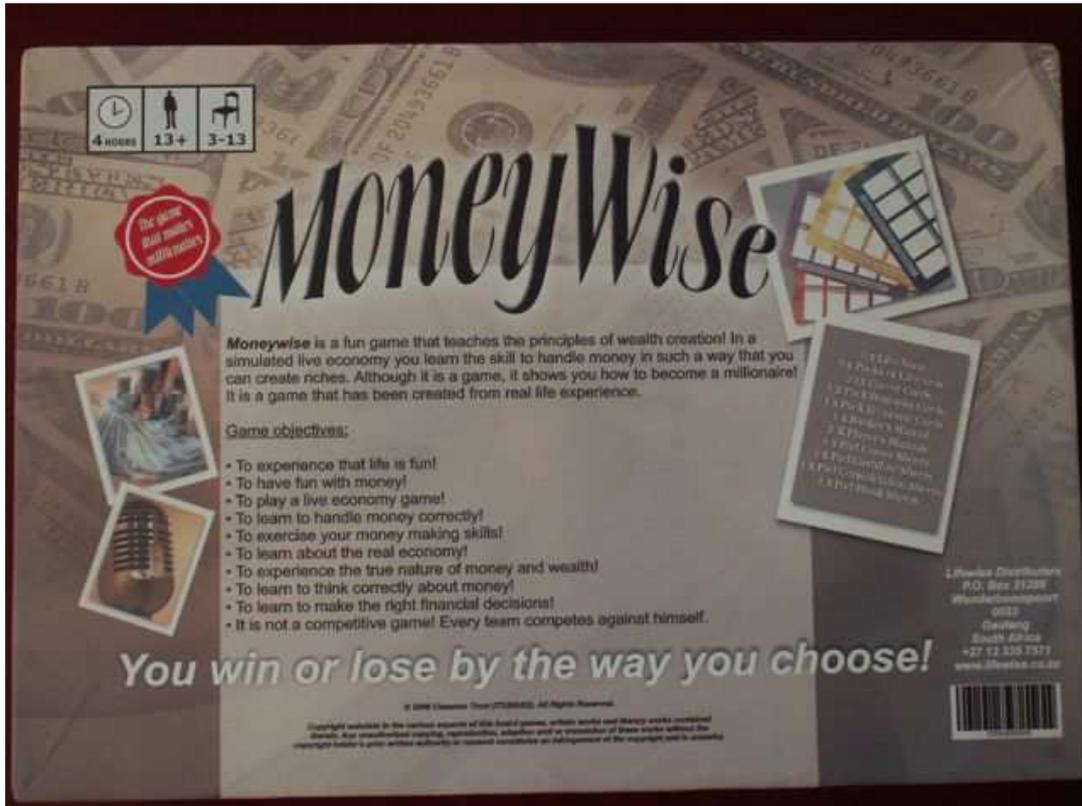

Yours sincerely
